VALUES MUST BE EQUALIZED

County Commissioners Seek Funds for City Appraisal

That the Ohio legislature may reconvene for purpose of enacting new tax legislation to provide for a period reappraisal of real estate, may be a sequel of the Dayton Gas & Electric Co. decision, Columbus dispatched Wednesday.

Such action S. E. Forney, chairman of the state tax commission declared is the only solution of the muddle.

Decision in the suit brought by the Dayton company to prevent collection of taxes on valuations fixed by the tax commission 40 per cent higher than other Montgomery county valuations, has put the issue squarely up to the state.

VALUATIONS TO BE EQUAL

The decision will prevent a county from collecting taxes on any other valuation than that assessed on other property.

If corporations generally seek relief, a tremendous reduction of revenues throughout the state will follow, Chairman Forney asserted.

Decision in the case points out a way to enforce a general revaluation in Allen-co., it was stated Wednesday. Taxpayers here can go into court and by showing a discrepancy between the valuation of their property and that belonging to others, compel a readjustment.

Such adjustments would be in a general downward direction, it is believed. Consequent loss of revenue would force a reappraisal.

A reappraisal is pending in Allen-co. but is at a standstill for lack of money to defray the expenses. County commissioners declared Wednesday they are seeking to find funds.

MAY FLOAT LOAN

If bonds to pay off a county deficit sell, they plan to float a loan. Reappraisal will benefit the county more than the city, commissioners admit.

Under the 1924 levy, for county operation a revaluation of Lima property would give the county an additional sum for operation estimated at from $75,000 to $100,000.

Governor Donahay, is known to oppose state wide property revaluation, on grounds that counties can handle the situation themselves.

In his veto of the McDonald act, which provided a general reappaisal in 1924, and every eight years after, Governor Donahay pointed out that each county auditor has full power to order a reappraisal.

If the county officials fail to act, it is pointed out that the state tax commission may order reappraisal, or taxpayers themselves have power under present laws to obtain revaluations.

Donahay Wednesday refused to comment on the possibility that the legislature might convene to enact revaluation legislation.

STILL REMOVING BODIES FROM RUINS IN JAPAN

TOKIO — A month after Japan's greatest earthquake finds funeral pyres still burning in Honjo and Akakawa wards and in other districts of Tokio where bodies are being taken from the ruins. Despite the need of haste in disposing of the bodies to prevent epidemics and in clearing away debris so the city can be rebuilt in a measure before the rigors of winter set in, the bereaved are finding time to perform the simpler rites of mourning.

Shanties of every description have sprung up over the devastated area, especially in the low-lying districts, offering protection from rains, but not from colds and it is feared that winter will bring in its wake a heavy toll in death from pulmonary diseases.

Bentley, president of the Board of Commerce, will call balls and strikes and Rolla Mikesell will lead the rooters' gang in the bleachers at Wednesday night's supper of the American and National League team captains and members in the board of commerce membership drive which starts Thursday morning.

Members of the Pittsburgh National League baseball team, which play the Lima Independents Wednesday afternoon at the Murphy-st. park, are to be guests of honor at the dinner meeting of the board. Such men as Wilbur Cooper and Schmidt are expected to give the board teams pointers on the ways and hows of hitting the old pill for a circuit swat.

Wednesday's supper meeting at the Y. M. C. A. starts at 6:30 p.m. and is to be followed by an assignment of prospects among the players of the 16 teams.

BENTLEY TO SPEAK

Umpire Bentley will admonish the players in an after dinner speech and Roster Mikesell will lead the singing of the bleacherites.

As announced Tuesday in The Lima News any player or captain who fails to appear for the dinner meeting will be charged with a strike-out. Wednesday many of the players went out to the Municipal ball grounds to see the Pittsburgh Nationals in action to get some ideas of pinch hitting, base stealing and general inside baseball dope so that when the little world series starts Thursday, the will have high batting average.

Secretary Morton and Pete De Weese, office manager of the members series, anticipate about 150 players, officers and others will attend the meeting Wednesday night.

As has been emphasized many times before, the drive is to bring the active paying membership of the board of commerce up to 1,000.

From its present 600 and to do this the 16 teams must get at least 400 new members before the close of the drive Friday night.

OKLAHOMA CITY.—(Associated Press) — The state capitol was again under guard of state troops today. Frank Carter, chairman of the state corporation commission, declared it was his understanding that the guards were under orders to prevent certification to the state election board of returns from yesterday's state election. No explanation of the guards' reappearance could be obtained from the adjutant general's office.

OKLAHOMA CITY.—(Associated Press) — A temporary restraining order preventing the state election board from certifying the returns from yesterday's special election was issued in state district court here today upon application of counsel for Governor J. C. Walton.

The order was granted immediately after the executive's petition was filed before Judge Tom G. Chambers, Jr. It enjoins W. C. McAlister, secretary; John P. Logan, deposed chairman, Ira Mitchell, newly appointed chairman and Claude Baker, member, from certifying the returns of "the pretended election" to the secretary of state. The action was brought by Walton as governor.

ELECTION RESULTS

OKLAHOMA CITY.—(United Press) — Along drawn out court fight was in prospect today, testing the legality of Tuesday's election in Oklahoma, at which an initiated amendment to the constitution, providing that the legislature might convene itself without a call from the governor, was adopted overwhelmingly.

Governor J. C. Walton, who opposed the election with all the power at his command, consulted with his legal advisers today concerning the court procedure. A fight will be made by the governor on the grounds that the initiated measure was not advertised at least five days before the election, as required by the Oklahoma statutes.

Convicts Kill One, Wound Three, Then Barricade Selves

EDDYVILLE.—(United Press) — Barricaded behind prison dining room doors, following the slaying of one guard and wounding of three others in an unsuccessful dash for freedom, three convicts held guards at bay here Wednesday afternoon.

The convicts, armed with blue steel automatics, attacked the guards at 7:00 a.m. Hodge Cunningham, guard, was slain by the first volley of shots and Will Gilbert, E. B. Mattingley and Will Gillham, guards, were wounded, according to Warden John Chilton.

At the first outbreak, the prison was thrown into an uproar. Guards raced to the aid of their fellows and the three convicts fortified themselves in the dining room keeping up a steady fire on the baffled guards.

SURROUND ROOM

All attempts to dislodge the three failed during the morning and the guards had to content themselves with surrounding the room and keeping a close watch on all doors.

Warden Chilton kept his men from attacking in order that no more blood should be shed. Other prisoners listened to the wild shouting and the barking of guns making no attempt to escape.

The three besieged convicts were all sentenced for murder, according to the warden. They were:

Monte Walters, Louisville, Iifer. Lawrence Griffith, Mayfield, Iifer. Henry Serland, Newport, serving 16 years sentence.

"The Klan is to blame," Walton said.

The vote was extremely light—about half of the 450,000 cast at the last general election in Oklahoma. The governor's supporters claimed many people remained away from the polls on the outside was the theory of the warden.

EXCLUSIVE RIGHTS ATTACKED

Portions of Carmen's Cross Peiltion Stricken Out

Guy S. Campbell, president of the Amalgamated Association of Street & Electric Railway Employees, Division 759, was the first witness called in the Lima City Street Railway injunction hearing in common pleas court Wednesday.

Campbell was called for cross examinations by D. J. Cable, president of the company, and chief counsel.

He was asked to bring into court the records of meetings of the local Carmen's union for the past few months. An objection made to the demand by counsel for the Carmen was overruled by Judge Miller.

TELLS OF NEGOTIATIONS

Campbell testified regarding the negotiations between the company and the Amalgamated Carmen prior to the walkout. He admitted that he had called on Cable in company with a committee and left contract to be signed.

The contract in substance contained the provision that "only members of the Amalgamated association were to be employed on regular runs." Campbell admitted under questioning that the clause meant recognition of the association and closed shop conditions.

Recognition of the street Carmen's organization is one of the principal points of contention between the company and the men.

In reply to a question, Campbell testified that the agreement submitted to the company, had been first voted upon at a meeting of the Union.

MEETING CLOSED

Only members of the organization, he declared, were permitted to be present at the meeting. No public meetings are held, he said, for transaction of business.

The witness admitted that the walkout of August 11 was carried out for the purpose of compelling the street car company to sign the agreement calling for an increase in wages and recognition of the association.

Campbell was still on the stand, when court recessed at noon to reconvene after lunch.

Much of the morning session Wednesday was consumed in hearing arguments on a motion filed by Cable to strike out 10 paragraphs from the cross petition file by counsel for the Carmen.

The court sustained the motion as to all matters not directly in relation to the case at issue. The issue the court declared is whether or not the Carmen have a legal right to operate busses or other vehicles for hire, in competition with the street railway company.

ROUTINE ANNOUNCED

The court indicated that he will first decide on the demurrer, and then on the case itself. Defendants were permitted to save exceptions to his rulings, and file an amended answer, if they desire.

Contention was made by the company before the court that they had not purchased the old Ohio Electric franchise, that only the physical properties were bought.

Defendants argued that obligation of the original grantee must necessarily be assumed by the purchaser.

The position assumed by the company in defense of assertions that the license act of the city is in conflict with state laws relating to bus lines, is that such acts do not apply to a charter city.

Defendants told the court that the charter itself under Section 100, which provides that, "No grant, or renewal thereof of to construct maintain and operate a public utility in the streets and public grounds of the city shall be made by the city commission."

One Out of Five Marriages End in Domestic Relations

Court in Allen-Co.—Proportion Higher Here

Than That in State and Nation

That marriage is a decaying institution, not only in the United States and Ohio but also in Lima, is indicated in the official census report issued at Washington Wednesday.

Figures compiled by the federal government and the Allen-co officials show that in Lima and Allen-co one marriage out of every four ends in the divorce court. In the state the ratio is one out of five and in the nation one out of seven.

For the first time in the history of the country, the marriage rate has ceased its steady growth and the divorce rate is continuing its growth, figures show.

NEARBY COUNTIES LOWER

Allen-co is also leading surrounding counties in the grinding of the divorce mill, figures compiled by John Cotter, clerk of courts, show. Other counties have ratios as follows:

Hardin-co one to five; Putnam-co one to eight; Van Wert and Auglaize-co one to nine.

Statistics compiled by the Department of Commerce disclose that in Ohio last year 53,208 couples launched their craft on matrimony's sea, being 885 per 100,000 of population. There were 10,182 divorces granted, or at the rate of 169 per 100,000 of population.

For the country there were 1,26,418 marriages, an average of 1,033 per 100,000 of population, and 143,554 divorces, or at the rate of 138 per 100,000 of population.

A comparison with the statistics for 1921, say Federal officials, reveals the "astonishing fact" that while marriage have decreased, divorces have increased, the totals for that year being 1,055 marriages and 112 divorces for 100,000 of population.

CAPITAL LOWEST

that while the marriage rate is decreasing, the divorce rate is increasing.

Saloon proprietors and bartenders generally took the order lightly, refusing to admit even a possibility of their being permanently closed.

Many of them, in anticipation of such a step, had procured legal opinions, and are prepared to contest the issue in court.

The governor claimed he had gained great moral support for his campaign against the Ku Klux Klan as a result of the balloting. Owners Ask Rent and Present City New Problem

Offers of parking space for automobiles are being made to city officials, according to the mayor and Wednesday morning came another one, he said. But in most cases those who are offering parking space are asking a rental for the ground room and this has raised a question. The propositions will be referred to the new traffic commission when it begins functioning.

Thursday morning a Mrs. Davis, telephoned Mayor Cunningham and said she had a plot of ground at the rear of 131 W. North-st which would be suitable for parking space with a good entrance on West-st. The ground is 80 feet long by 62 feet wide, she told the mayor, and would accommodate a considerable number of cars.

When she asked her about rental charges, Mrs. Davis said she did not know about that but would study the matter, place a figure on the rental space and then notify him. She had not done so up to noon, he said.

TED PLAYS GOLF AS SUN SHINES

If there is any one thing that Ted likes to do it is play golf and often times Ted can be seen practicing up the Shawnee Country club. With the report at hand that it would be cooler Thursday afternoon, and evening Ted decided to visit the golf links Wednesday. So he donned his knickers, a d, with his favorite pipe, put in several hours with his driver in an effort to overcome "silence." The Ohio weather report for Wednesday, which predicted fair Wednesday night and Thursday and warmer in the southeast portion at night, pleased Ted very much.

On his way home from the country club Ted was heard to say, "Well, if I keep improving on the links I'll soon be able to challenge Gene Sarazen or Bobby Jones, I don't care whether I become professional or amateur champion."

Double - faced Red Seal Records

For those who appreciate the utility and economy of the double-faced record, the Victor Company now for the first time offers Red Seal Records in that form.

We have delayed this change because of the difficulty of making satisfactory combinations of selections and as it is clearly impossible to meet everyone's ideas in this respect, the list of single-sided Red Seal Records will be continued.

A separate Red Seal Catalog has been issued, containing new list prices for both Double and Single, a portrait of each artist, with a complete biographical sketch.

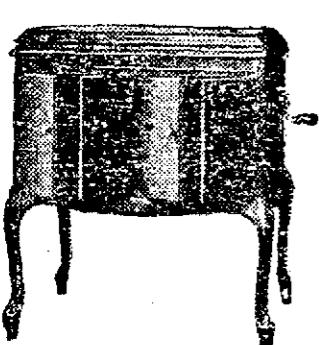

This new Red Seal Catalog is worth having. Please call on your dealer, or write to us and receive a copy. Also, hear new Victor Records on these new Victrola models. They are a marked advance in talking machine art.

AID IS SOUGHT IN DEATH PROBE

Gov. Smith May be Asked to Take Hand in Webb Case

VICTIM'S FRIENDS AT WORK

Investigation is Continued by Grand Jury

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y. — (Associated Press) — The Westchester co grand jury today continued its investigation into the alleged poisoning of Mrs. Charles Webb, wealthy member of New York and Philadelphia society, who died a week ago today at the Westchester-Biltmore Country Club at Rye, N. Y.

One of today's witnesses is expected to be Miss Margaret P. Johnstone, wife of a former New York judge, and one of Mrs. Webb's best friends. Mrs. Johnstone has been frank in her statements of the belief that the wealthy Mrs. Webb was poisoned.

A move was started among former friends of Mrs. Webb last night to take the case to Governor Smith and ask him to designate the attorney general to continue the investigation. This move was taken shortly after Coroner Fitzgerald and District Attorney Rowland had made statements that if more evidence of poisoning was not forthcoming immediately, the case would be dropped. The chemical analysis of Mrs. Webb's kidneys has not been reported officially.

FIGHT OVER WILL

The fight over Mrs. Webb's will, or wills, which were said to dispose of an estate of between $2,000,000 and $3,000,000 was expected to take more definite form today. Late yesterday S. Jennings Gorman, the dead woman's father, entered a protest to the filing of the will which was submitted by attorneys for the husband. Other relatives will attempt to show that a second document, which Mrs. Webb left unsigned because of her illness, in reality expressed her wishes.

Mr. Webb issued a statement that altho the signed will left all his wife's property to him, he would carry out the bequests mentioned in the unsigned one, despite its invalidity, because he believed it expressed her wishes at the time of her death.

Former Surrogate Cohan was retained by Mr. and Mrs. William T. Hunter, of Devon, Pa., and by Mrs. Irene Augusta Derbyshire, of Chambersburg, Pa., to contest the will filed for probate.

A controversy was started between Dr. William J. Meyer, who attended Mrs. Webb and Mr. Webb when the latter charged the doctor with excluding him from his wife's sick room. The doctor said Mr. Webb had continued to transact business with his wife during her critical illness, but added that this was not the reason for excluding him.

"It was for a very different reason, which I shall not reveal now," he said, "but which the authorities may have if they desire it."

LIAISON OFFICER MAY BE NAMED TO TELL OF POSTOFFICE NEEDS

Plans for the creation of another office in the Lima postoffice by which there will be a liaison officer to act as a go-between from Postmaster Gale to the patrons of the office in order to improve the service are being worked out by John H. Bartlett, first assistant postmaster general, according to word sent out from Washington.

This officer, according to General Bartlett's plan, is to be some person capable of meeting business men on their own level and competent to address all sorts of audiences on the need of closer co-operation between the postoffice force and the public. He would act as a sort of publicity agent for the postoffice.

According to Washington advice Postmaster Gale will be asked to form comprehensive plans for a publicity campaign to bring home to Lima patrons the need of closer cooperation to insure quicker handling of mail matters. Postmaster Gale will be required to make an official report of activities along this line.

The man to be named as the liaison officer will be an outsider but will have an official status in the general postoffice departmental work, General Bartlett says. His greatest duty will be to speed up early mailing.

Miss Helen Neff, 329 S. Pierce st, clerk in probate court will leave Wednesday for a five weeks tour of the Pacific coast. She will visit first in Los Angeles.

*Why have sleepless nights
from ECZEMA?*

OH! The joy of a peaceful restful night. What a wonderful "up and going" feeling follows such a night of undisturbed slumber.

OH! What tortures—what agony—what despair—goes with the nights where eczema and other skin diseases hold power and drive away rest and peaceful slumber. For under the cover of darkness like crafty beings of the underworld these eruptions work their most serious havoc.

S. S. S. is the established conqueror of these annoying skin diseases. S. S. S. drives these ever disturbing elements from your system—elements that carry in their wake—lack of energy—lack of strength—undermining health! S. S. S. purifies the blood. It creates red blood cells by the second. Blood cells that send new rich blood courses through your veins. Red blood that drives away eczema—drives away pimples and blackheads that cause embarrassment and mortification—and in their stead brings added strength—increased vitality—renewed vigor.

Mr. W. T. Hooker, 2321 Proctor Street, Port Arthur, Texas, writes:

"I suffered from Eczema for seven years and was visited with recurrences. I tried S. S. S. and six bottles cured me. I now enjoy good health. I think S. S. S. the only sure cure for blood disorders on the market."

S. S. S. is sold at all good drug stores. It is more economical to purchase a large bottle. Get one today and eat it out. Watch S. S. S. royal, that annoying, skin destroying, health undermining army that holds your system in its grasp. Learn again what it means to enjoy peaceful, restful nights of slumber.

POPULAR YOUNG LADY HELPED

Very Anemic; Hardly Able to Do Work, Before Taking Plant Juice

NOTHING ELSE HELPED HER

"Very anemic. Hardly able to get my day's work done." This was the condition of Miss Pearl Roddy, popular young lady of Newark, N. J., residing at 488 Broadway street, Newark when she started taking this herbal medicine Plant Juice. Now, Miss Roddy says she gets her day's work done almost before she knows it and is gaining weight and enjoying the best of health.

"I was troubled with my stomach and it seemed like I could not find any medicine that would help me," Miss Roddy said. "I could not digest the lightest kind of food but instead, food would ferment, cause quantities of gas, a heavy feeling and pains in my stomach. I cannot remember a time when I have not had to take cathartics because of constipation, with which I had suffered since childhood, and also my liver and kidneys were inactive and I had bilious attacks and dizzy spells. I was very anemic—in fact, was on the verge of giving up my work."

"Some friends of mine were taking Plant Juice with fine results and so, I decided to try it and must confess that I am now enjoying the best of health. I have a good appetite, enjoy my meals and am not constipated. I do not suffer from bloating or pains; liver and kidneys are in good condition and my nervous system has been toned and strengthened so that I sleep fine. I have new energy and ambition and get through my day's work with ease. I am gaining weight and am surely glad to endorse Plant Juice."

Plant Juice is sold in Lima at Hunter's drug store at 49 Public Square and Main and Wayne streets and at the Argonne drug store, opposite Post Office.—Adv.

BACK IN POLITICS

LIMA'S commission election next month will see an application of politics of the old order. While this is a fact, it is chargeable to a small minority who have been disgruntled since the city shook off the old Federal plan of government for the commission manager system, calculated to relegate politics to the discard.

What Lima is experiencing now and will experience before the polls open in November has been the routine of practically every other Ohio city which has tried the new form of government. In some places the politicians have lost; in others, they have won. The voters next month will decide whether the politicians or the people shall rule here for the next two years.

The fight appears to be centering around Commissioner John Harley. He is a Republican, the party's candidate for mayor under the last federal election. He went down to defeat by a few votes, slightly more than a score. But the campaign of 1919 did not end there. Harley in some manner incurred the enmity of the bosses of his political party. The feud on their part has raged ever since whenever the Colonel stuck his head above the political breastworks.

It is openly admitted by politicians that the Republican organization will fight Harley to the last ditch this fall. By organization is not meant the rank and file of the party, but a handful of men who have succeeded in setting themselves up as dictators in that party. They have had their troubles in holding the balance of power; sometimes they have been defeated, but they are ever on the job and have won more times than they have lost.

At this particular time we are interested only in the open attempt to force politics back into the new system of government, now less than two years old. We had hoped that it would escape the onslaught for a longer period. We felt the attempt was inevitable and the political strategists evidently consider this the opportune time to strike.

We speak on what we consider authoritative information when we say that more is involved in the coming election than the mere election of city commissioners. A big part of the official personnel as now constituted may be affected by the outcome. This, however, is an incident, but shows the political workings as they may develop.

The city charter forbids active campaigning by candidates for the commission, but places no bar on activity of their friends. While the voters of the city will have no declaration from the candidates themselves, they may draw a pretty close conclusion if they are able to fathom the interest of those who will pull the wires.

WHEN WE ARE AWAY FROM HOME

TOURISTS are the worst offenders against traffic laws, claims a motorcycle cop in Topeka, Kas. Not so much due to ignorance of local regulations, for there are plenty of signboards, but rather because it is human nature to cut loose from restraint when away from home. A tendency we all notice at conventions.

The same trait of human nature explains why many international politicians (diplomats) employ ethics in their relations with other countries that they wouldn't think of applying at home in daily life.

GAS GAMBLERS

GASOLINE recently has been retailing at an average of 16 cents a gallon in 30 leading cities over the country.

The average price in these same cities Jan. 1, 1921, was 29 cents.

The cause of this price drop is the tremendous over-production of gasoline bearing crude oil, due chiefly to California oil gushers.

When gasoline sold for 29 cents, 999 out of 1000 oil men would have bet heavily against a drop to 16 cents. Oil is a gambling industry. Remember this when tempted to buy chips—uncertain stocks.

And he does tell me shopping is lively among the women. The cooler weather will help. The poste, saluted me with monthly friends. Who grow more numerous with the years.

At the shoppe, and hard at my stint. With really little zest. Out to my barber's for a trim. By a new Artist. Who said not word about the national debt. Nor the soldiers bonus. Nor even the Ruhr, or the price of marks. A wonderful experience. Thence, to pay personal greetings to M'sieur Christen, the new money maker at the First National. At the court house, to look over a mortgage. Thither over, to see Billy Duffield, but he not at home.

Lunched, unhappily alone. My wife, poor wretch, in the southern Ohio hills. And she a good wretch, too. On the avenue, toward way. Alan Brady, the banker, at the toothpick stage. But smoking instead, howbeit.

GETTING ACQUAINTED

SHORT ONES

Detroit girl of 17 had two husbands, both her own.

Wouldn't it be nice if we could burn coal investigations?

Nicest thing about winter is you can wear a vest and keep your shirt clean longer.

Most wool suits are mostly cotton. That's where they pull the wool over your eyes.

You see autos parked all along the country roads these nights, perhaps to save gas.

There is agitation to limit the price of coal. Our guess is the sky will be the limit.

Many are taking advantage of the fall weather to say they didn't mind summer so much.

Movie actor was hurt falling off a horse. Perhaps he was imitating the Prince of Wales.

Be very careful while inheriting a fortune. A Paris ragpicker did it and dropped dead.

Woman shot at while driving a car in Chicago, so perhaps she was just learning to drive.

Among shaky movements on foot are fall dances. All the girls are seconding the motion.

Man in Cincinnati who wanted a street car to dodge his auto found the darn thing wouldn't.

Movie star 62 years old wants a divorce, so perhaps she was too young when she married.

All circuses advertise as the biggest in the world, but our guess would be some senator is.

Actors look forward to this winter when the audience will applaud to keep their hands warm.

Fast as candidates throw their hats into the political ring somebody slings mud on them.

Several years have been presenting to him autographed volumes of their first novels, plays and poems. He was not required to read the books so he took them.

Now he is going to have published a thin and soulful volume of his own. With only moderate faith in its financial success, his publishers allow him only two copies as his only return from the venture beyond a small percentage of the sales.

And he has to return the compliment to those who have given him books by reciprocating with his own work. That means going to market and buying 15 copies at $3.50 each.

Mr. Average Man buys a new suit of clothes only about every year and seven months, or at the annual rate of 62 new suits for each 100 men, according to the National Association of Retail Clothiers, just in convention here.

But what of the "well-dressed man," who has the money and inclination to gratify his ambition as to appearance?

"Ten or a dozen suits a year will keep him comfortable in body and mind," say an executive of a Michigan avenue men's shop.

The conservative well-dressed man will have about 30 garments in his wardrobe, including four or five lightweight overcoats, the same number of heavy ones and a tuxedo, afternoon frock coat and full-dress suit.

Read awhile in a French farce, thence to The Fauret to hear Chauncey Olcott. The first time in many a moon. Ho good, but the brogue was not of noble Dublin. So, home and to bed.

Conventions are given the glad hand by everyone in Chicago except Mrs. Mabel Reinecke, the collector of internal revenue.

Mrs. Reinecke, being a woman and incidentally the only woman collector in the service, takes with a large pinch of salt the heavy descriptions of conventions given to wives by homecoming delegates.

Conventions are occasions of pleasure and not of business, she has just ruled, and money "blown" there cannot be charged on expense account for income tax exemption.

AUTUMN

When autumn comes

At last to me,

May I be robed

As is the tree;

May I stand out

In splendor dressed,

Not gaunt and pale

But at my best.

When Autumn comes

And age is near,

When I have almost

Run my year,

May something fine

Which men can see

Proclaim what I

Have tried to be.

May all my

Failures be forgot,

And all my faults

Remembered not;

May friend or foe,

If such there be,

Find something fit

For praise in me.

When autumn comes

And strength is spent,

I shall be happy

And content,

If in my passing

Men shall see

The grace and charm

Which mark a tree.

GIRL IS VICTIM OF MYSTERY ATTACK

Thrown From Speeding Auto Into Street of Cincinnati

SKULL AND LEGS FRACTURED

Search for Companions is Begun by Police

CINCINNATI—(United Press)— Thrown from an automobile with the resulting fracture of her skull, fractures of both legs and fracture of the nose, a girl who said she was Marcelle Sandborn, 20, telephone operator of Chicago, was picked up in a dying condition on a street here early today.

Robert Welsensberger, a passing auto, found the girl, seriously injured and moaning in agony on the granite blocks of the street.

"They threw me out! They threw me out!" she cried.

Welsensberger lifted her into his automobile and drove at top speed to the hospital.

The girl gave her name as Marcelle Sandborn. She gave several addresses, two of them in Chicago, and one Louisville.

COMPANIONS NAMED

In the automobile with her, she said, were two girls who came to Cincinnati with her two weeks ago. Their names were Marie and Kathleen Kelly, she said. There also were men in the automobile, she told police.

Police say they believe the girl was beaten before being hurled from the speeding automobile.

The girl was without shoes or hat. She was clad in a black underskirt, stockings and a dress that was torn from her body almost entirely.

She has brown hair, bobbed; hazel eyes, weighs about 135 pounds and is about five feet four inches tall.

A dragnet was thrown out by police today to round up the persons who were in the machine from which she was thrown.

CENTRAL HIGH CAMPAIGNS FOR ATHLETIC MEMBERS

A drive for memberships for the Central High Athletic association was started by officials of that organization Tuesday afternoon. It is expected about 80 per cent or 800 of the school's pupils will be on the roll of the association. Thus the athletic association is handled a lot of the finances and problems of the various teams and for that reason its membership should be large, school officials point out.

Clubwork took another forward step Tuesday afternoon when pupils signed sheets showing their preference for the various school clubs. More than 20 clubs will be conducted this year in various lines of interest to boys and girls. Among the clubs which seem to have been preferred by the students are Geography, Dramatic, Senate, Chemistry, Sewing and Radio.

PLANS VISIT TO LIMA FACTORIES

Board of Commerce Asks City to Learn What it Makes

Plans have been formulated by the manufacturers and the retail merchants committees of the board of commerce for the observance here of a special day in which people will be urged to visit local industries and ascertain just how extensive are the city's manufacturing interests.

No date has been set for the observance, Secretary J. E. Morton of the board said Wednesday. In fact no meeting of the two committees has yet been held, according to Morton.

It is probable, however, the day will be observed some time during October.

Manufacturers represented on the committee are H. I. Breckinridge, chairman; R. E. Barnhardt, R. J. Plate, L. J. Hofmann and J. E. Galvin.

Study the contour and tread of the Firestone Heavy Duty Cushion. You will see, at a glance, why this tire has earned such a reputation for efficient traction.

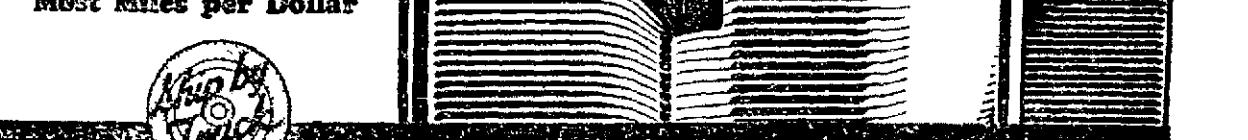

The deep groove at the center has powerful shoulders that take hold of the surface of the road with stronger grip as the load is increased. In mud or sand, and on steep grades, every ounce of power is utilized for a steady, forward pull.

The Firestone Heavy Duty Cushion is built with a high profile and extra volume of rubber. By its scientific shape the constant jars from road impact are distributed and absorbed. It is a real cushion, giving increased protection to trucks with reduced operating costs.

It has other valuable features—unfaeling base adhesion, unusual heat radiation and large carrying capacity.

Come in and let us tell you about its economical performance on trucks in this vicinity. It can be easily applied to your units, with practically no loss of time.

THE FURNACE STOVE

THE CLINTON FURNACE STOVE EMBODIES FEATURES FOUND IN NO OTHER STOVE

Furnace Construction Causes Air Circulation—It Not Only Heats the Air But Purifies It

It embodies the good features of a pipeless furnace, with those of the common heating stove at the cost of a good hot blast heater. It requires no more fuel than an ordinary heating stove, yet will heat a house of five or six rooms by circulation. It will not alone heat the room in which it is placed but will keep the entire house at an even temperature if properly placed. Burns Soft Coal, Hard Coal, Slack, Coke, Wood and Lignite.

Furnace Construction

A glance at the cut at right shows you the FURNACE CONSTRUCTION. Above the fire pot is a hollow bell casting. The inside wall has a closed top and the outside wall is connected with an inner cast iron drum which extends to the top of the stove. At the base of this casting two hollow arms extend thru the body of the stove connected with the cold air intakes which pass on the side of the fire box and the result is a hot wave of 450 degrees temperature passing out at the top. We invite your inspection and comparison with other furnace stoves.

Walter Ranger offers a hundred thousand dollar reward for the return of his missing diamond top hat, stolen by his son-in-law, his attorney, Justice Kirby, and by his lifelong friend Jaurez Charlie, adventurer. Charlie tells Loring that he feels certain the thief is one of a group of criminals called the "Pandemic." A message comes to Ranger in how to lure a man for Hope and get it at a specified place. Frank and Ranger protect the secret. George Kelsey is detained at a "sanitarium" and in reality visits with a girl who closely resembles a woman named "Hope" in the instruction.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

A responsive shiver passed over her shoulders.

"There was no use acting as if I hadn't taken it all in," Kelsey responded; "and I didn't hesitate to express myself. I was leaving at once. I told him; didn't care to be hooked up with a bunch of crooks. Brastow didn't bluster any; just smiled in that smug, superior way of his and when I finished, condescended to explain. He had been humoring a lunatic, he said; my experience should have taught me the necessity of sometimes doing that. The story of the stolen jewels was pure dementia, but interesting as an example of unusual coherence.

"He made the thing plausible enough, but it didn't stick in as he expected. I'd heard the two of them talk. There wasn't any make-believe about it; they were right down to business. Actual names and addresses were given and written down. And the alleged patient was allowed to depart, free.

"So I stood my ground, and bluntly told him that I didn't consider the circumstances open to misinterpretation.

Brastow began tapping on the arm of his chair, but he was a cool as ever. It looks as if your usefulness here is over," he agreed. "I regret it. You would have been a valuable man."

Speak a little lower," she cautioned.

"Thanks, I forgot for the moment. Well, I left him then, and went up to my room. I've told you how I attempted to get away and failed. After that, I tried to get to Brastow again, but he wouldn't see me. So I turned to Morton."

"Morton?" she repeated interrogatively.

"Yes; the other house physician. He's a quiet, non-committal sort of a fellow. I didn't go into the whole thing with him; just told him I'd had a falling out with Brastow and resigned, but that when I attempted to leave the place, I'd been prevented.

"He didn't show any surprise. He'd been primed. Just listened, and said now and then, 'I'm sorry,' or 'Too bad.' I didn't get his attitude at the time. My idea then was that he was too keen on his job to take sides. But I gained a clearer light on him when I finally talked to Brastow.

"He was all ready for me, and didn't waste any time in laying his cards on the table.

"It's for your own sake that I have taken these restrictive measures," he said in his best professional manner. "I'm not easily fooled, yet I confess I had no suspicions of you. But your violent outbreak and the persistent way you have clung to your delusions leave only one course

SHE HELD UP THE PICTURE FOR HIM TO SEE.

I find, an Australian, an actor born in Melbourne. Your name is not Kelsey but Haworth, James Haworth?

"That was a bit too thick, and I told him so. The devil intended to me quietly, never altering his opinion. He was the grave, kind medical adviser.

"You say, 'What rot!' and say it quite seriously; he came back at me; 'for yours is a case of dual personality. You started life as a young physician. Something occurred, a shock of some sort. Your secondary personality asserted itself, and you became an actor. This continued for a time and then the doctor personality reasserted itself and you came to this country. In neither of these states is there any remembrance of the other. There may eventually occur—and I think I can help you in such a crisis—a struggle between the two personalities, and it will then devolve upon you to decide which one you wish to retain, definitely putting the other away. In the meantime, I feel it my duty to keep you under observation."

While he talked, Kelsey was aware that the girl was following his narrative with an almost feverish interest, and he wondered again at her self-control.

"Careful!" he warned quickly. "Miss Copley has come out and is looking for you." He slouched back on the bench, looking more bored and gloomily abstracted than ever.

The nurse crossed the lawn swiftly, her face darkening as she caught sight of the two on the rustic seat.

"Verna!" she called. "Verna!" There was an anxiety bordering on panic in her harsh, unmodulated voice.

The girl did not respond at once. Then she started and looked about her, as she had just returned from a far country and the present surroundings were unfamiliar. But at another, "Verna!" she rose obediently and held out the note-book and pencil.

"Look," she said; "see all I've written. Me," with a gesture toward Kelsey, "gave me the book and pencil."

"How nice." The nurse was composed again. "Now give them back to him dear, and come in the house."

CHAPTER IX

Jaurez Charlie was beginning to feel oppressed and uneasy. Three days had passed since the hat was taken out of Ranger's car, and there had been no succeeding developments. Again and again he had explored the straggling neighborhood where he lived, searching each fence-post and boarder for another of those enthusiastic communications, but without results.

On the fourth morning as, after another fruitless hunt, he brought out the motorcycle which Ranger had insisted on his accepting in order to facilitate his movements, and prepared to start for town, he had the air of a discredited prophet who had lost honor even with himself.

SUSIE SMART'S ADVICE

DEAR MISS SMART:
THIS letter may seem to you very foolish and unnecessary but I recently have helped so many others than myself since the first time to help me. I have recently come from out of town but have many more friends but few and friends are 17 years old and good dresser and considered good looking but somehow I never took interest in the girls. Men were all for me. Now I am finding out that realize that I need a girl whom and steady companion one who you can have a good time with.

This is the only time I thought of to get acquainted with one. I hope you can help me. Miss Smart. Please publish letters that come for me and I will send you my address. Thank you.

I'M SORRY, Babe, but I hardly think I can publish any letters that come for you. Perhaps if any come to me in answer to you, I can send them to you if you send a stamped, addressed envelope but I wouldn't want to publish the letters just for you to censor first. However, surely you have met girls in school who you feel you will grow to like better than others. Then, too, in your church societies or Sunday school class, you will meet girls whom you will want to know better.

To my mind, it would be far better to pick your friends yourself instead of someone picking them for you.

MY DEAR MISS SMART:
I had a birthday recently and a number of friends from out-of-town sent gifts. I typed the letters thanking them for their presents. My friend chided me that was not the polite thing to do. Which is not true!

HELENA

To anyone who is thoughtful enough to send you a gift, you should be willing to go to the trouble of writing a note. While typed letters of friendship are usual nowadays, it demands the courtesy of a note written by hand.

RAY SCHALK, NOTED CATCHER BELIEVES ONE PITCHER MAY DECIDE WORLD'S SERIES AND CITES ADAMS

(BY RAY SCHALK)

World's Greatest Catcher

What part does pitching play in a short series?

In figuring the chances of the Giants and the Yankees in the coming world series, that question is show that one pitcher has often dominated the event by winning three Unquestionably, the Yankee staff, as a whole is far superior to that of the Giants. Over a season's campaign of 154 games it would decisively assert itself. But does it play so prominent a part in the outcome of a short series?

Experience has taught me that one great pitcher in a short series can outdo the efficiency of an all-star staff. It was Babe Adams with the three victories in the 1909 series between Pittsburgh and Detroit that returned the Pirates victory. Adams was the only effective Pittsburgh pitcher. Single handed he upset the dopes and put to rout the Detroit pitching staff which had proven so troublesome to American League batters.

Last in 1917 it was "Red" Faber who made possible the Chicago White Sox victory over the New York Giants. He won three games. The Yankees' pitching staff is superior to Giants.

In the last two world series the New York Yankees have gone down to defeat before the Giants. In 1921 it was a hard-fought affair, but last year the best Yanks could do was get a tie out of the five games played.

No baseball expert will for a minute argue that the pitching staff of the Yankees is equal to that of the Yanks. As a matter of fact the decisive victory of the Giants was the surprise of baseball, particularly for the experts. Baseball authorities

RAL SCHALK SAYS

Yankees' pitching staff is superior to Giants.

One great pitcher often outdoes entire all-star staff.

Yankees have five great pitchers to start against the Giants.

Southpaws bother a free

swinging club like the Yankees.

Jack Bentley may prove to be McGraw's ace in the hole.

A smart pitcher like Mc-

Quillan is great asset in a short series.

Some pitcher, little considered, may upset the dopes.

Some pitcher, little considered, may upset the dopes.

Don't lay too much stress on pitching in coming world series.

I am inclined to the belief that the value of an all-star pitching staff is overplayed in a short series, such as the annual clash of seven games between the two major league pennant winners.

The Yankees have five great pitchers who stand out. The staff of the Giants boasts of no such strength.

Yet on the staff of the National League entry are several pitchers who have the ability to single-handedly counteract the punch of the Yankees staff as a whole.

Then there's Jack Scott, Art Nehf and Bill Ryan, most capable performers.

Each has the ability to make himself a world series hero if he happens to be at the top of his game.

For the past two years I have played a great many games against the Giants on the spring training trip and I have been in an excellent position to judge the merits of the Giants' pitchers.

Likewise my summer's play against the Yankees gives me an even better line on the pitching staff of the American League pennant winners.

Here are the conclusions that

I draw:

The American League staff as a whole is 30 per cent more efficient than the Giants' staff. Yet, there are certain pitchers on the New York Nationals who have the ability to single-handedly counteract the punch of the Yankees staff as a whole.

Then again, some pitcher given no consideration may upset the dopes. Jesse Barnes, the possessor of a great curve ball, turned in such a performance in the 1921 series between the Giants and the Yanks. Not figured to start, his two victories as relief pitcher saved the Giants.

Pitching is baseball's most valuable asset. Over the long route, an all-star pitching staff will assert itself. However, I am of the opinion that a galaxy of star pitchers does not mean so much in a short series of seven games. Often one great pitcher may prove even more valuable than four or five stars.

For that reason, in dopying out the coming series between the Yankees and the Giants, it is not wise to lay too much stress on the Yankees' great pitching staff.

Cobbs Tigers Win Game and Jump To Hairs Breadth Of Second Place Position

Detroit And Cleveland Neck and Neck For Money Position In American Race

With the end of the league season in sight, enthusiasm is still sticking, so far as second place in the American league race is concerned. The Indians were defeated by St. Louis Browns in a ninth inning rally which netted the Browns 6 runs and the game. The Pirates in their game with Chicago, bunched hits and made it two straight from the Cubs, the score ending 6-5. Detroit scored five times on Ted Lyons, who started his first game for Chicago. This is the pitcher whom the Cardinals got from Los Angeles, and for whom the Cubs secured by waiver. His record shows that he was in 8 games for the Cardinals in 1921, winning 7 and losing 1. He played with Sioux City, perhaps on a farm out arrangement. He does not show in the 1922 records in the Big League. With the defeat of Cleveland and two straight wins for Cobb's Tigers Wednesday shows Detroit to be slightly less than one point behind the Indians for the money position.

Another interesting race, and the most exciting of all is that between St. Paul and Kansas City of the American Association. St. Paul defeated Indianapolis in the fourth game of the series Tuesday by a score of 4-2, thereby keeping pace with Kansas City. A home run, which bounded over the low fence in right field, when Beech slammed the ball in the seventh inning, with two runners on, is the particular font that spilled the beans. Kansas City, however, still heads with a percentage of .662, with St. Paul just 4 points behind.

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS

NEW YORK—Detroit's victory over the White Sox Tuesday and Cleveland's defeat by the Browns occasioned a revival of interest in the battle for second place honors in the American League, for the Tigers have a percentage of .530 as against the Indians.

The ability of Dauss to tighten up in the pinches, was in a great measure responsible for Detroit's 6 to 5 victory while Vangilder's excellent pitching, coupled with heavy timely hitting by his St. Louis teammates, particularly in the eighth inning, enabled the Browns to down Cleveland, 10 to 5.

The Athletics drew one game nearer the Senators when Burns, a comparatively new Philadelphia pitcher, held Washington to one run while the Philadelphians collected six runs.

Only one game was scheduled in the National League, between Brooklyn and Boston. A four run Brooklyn rally in the eighth inning broke a tie score and enabled the Dodgers to triumph, 5 to 2.

Miss Collett Has Easy Victory

RYE, N. Y.—(By Associated Press)—Miss Glenn Collett, of Providence, the defending champion and Miss Alexa Stirling, the former title holder, had two of the strongest players in the tournament for opponents Tuesday in the second round of the women's national golf championship. Miss Collett is paired against Miss Dorothy Higbee, of Chicago, and Miss Stirling against Miss Miriam Burns of Kansas City, the western champion. Miss Collett and Miss Stirling advanced from the first round by easy victories, the champion defeating Mrs. Fred C. Letts of Chicago by 4 and 3, and the former champion eliminating Miss Marjorie Anable of Montreal, 5 and 4.

RECORD MAY BE BROKEN

NEW YORK—(Associated Press)—One new world's series record will result from the coming tilt between the New York Giants and Yankees, while the McGraw men will have an opportunity to create another and the Huggins clan may equal one now in the record books.

The new record is the meeting of the same clubs for the third year in succession. The nearest approach to this mark was when the Chicago Cubs and Detroit Tigers met in the series of 1907 and 1908.

If the Giants win this year it will be their third world's championship in succession, a feat no other pennant-winner has ever accomplished. In that event the Yankees also would tie automatically the record of losing three series in a row, held by the Giants and Tigers. The Giants lost in 1911 and 1913 to the Philadelphia Athletics and in 1912 to the Boston Red Sox.

U. S. WOULD HELP SOUTH AMERICA

We're About to Assume Role of Banker for Neighbors

FEDERAL POLICY CHANGING

Washington Looking With More Favor Upon Proposals

(By B. C. FORBES)

NEW YORK — (Special) — What is America going to do with all the money it receives from European countries in payment of their debts to us, and with the hundreds of millions we receive for our balance of exports over imports?

There are growing indications that larger sums than heretofore will go to developing the wonderful resources of our various Latin-American neighbors to the south starting at our Mexican border and embracing both Central America and South America.

The United States government, which used to be quite cold towards proposed loans to Latin-American countries, has of late changed its attitude. Secretary Hughes, for example, is eager to make a name for himself by his friendliness towards the nations stretching to the south. One of the most effective ways of cultivating friendship with these peoples is to extend financial assistance to them.

New York investment bankers, encouraged by this more cordial attitude, are now developing keener interest in the possibilities of floating loans here for Latin-American borrowers. Investors in this country, indeed are likely to be invited to take part in a number of Latin-American offerings in coming months, including, at the start a $6,000,000 issue for that prosperous and potential little country, Salvador.

The continuance of the turmoil in Europe is making it more and more difficult for European bankers to supply the financial needs of Latin-America. Britain has battled bravely to maintain her position as banker for the world; but times have been very depressed in Britain and still are seriously out of joint industrially and economically, so she is not in a position to respond favorably to all overtures from prospective foreign borrowers.

That condition, combined with the more encouraging stand now taken by Washington, is paving the way for the United States coming to the front as banker for South America, Central America and Mexico.

A little while ago something was said in this column about the outlook for floating Latin-American Loans here, and at the close it was said the outcome would not depend wholly upon the course followed by our bankers but upon the response made to proffered Latin-American loans by you and me and other rank and file investors.

This brought a bitter letter from one reader, who cited several Latin-American flotations in this country which were allowed to decline sharply shortly after their distribution. The writer severely criticised the American bankers for what had happened.

Now, he would be rash who undertook to defend everything done by our financial underwriters in the distant past or even during recent years. Sins have been committed and mistakes have been made in still larger numbers. The market for poorly-distributed bond issues has not always been properly handled once the underwriters were able to empty their shelves.

That and a lot more can be and must be admitted.

From what one learns, however, our state department, in its anxiety to foster friendly relations with Latin-America, is now interesting itself more vigilantly than ever before in any and every proposed loan for Latin-American nations. You will recall that quite some time ago Washington requested bankers to inform it of any negotiations, right at their inception, for the issuance of any foreign loan in this country.

Washington either indicated disapproval of a suggested loan or merely refrained from interposing any objection. This became known in the financial community as the state department's attitude of "benevolent neutrality."

On the subject of loans actually needed by South America, I understand the state department now is prepared to take something more than merely a negative or neutral attitude. I understand the department is not averse to having it become known among bankers and investors it would look with favor upon measures to furnish Latin-American governments with capital from this country in preference to forcing Latin-American borrowers to go to European leaders.

A logical outgrowth of such an attitude would be a keener investigation by the state department of the worthiness of proposed loans to Latin-Americans. The Interstate commerce commission now passes upon all proposed financing by our railroads; in our different states the utility commission, or similar body, passes upon all proposed public utility finances.

It is perhaps too much to expect our department of state will shoulder the responsibility of announcing its endorsement of the terms of loans

SHORT SHAVINGS

Ed. Kane, S. Broadway, tells of a lad who lives near him, who is very polite. Nothing that happens is permitted to keep him from doing and saying things just right. Recently his mother thought she smelled tobacco on his breath and said:

"Tommy, you have been smoking. You'll be sick." "Thank you, mother," he said. "I'm dying."

L. O. Church, Cable-rd, heard recently of a young fellow in the west end of the city who was out with his best girl. It was a beautiful night and he longed to take her in his arms and tell her how much he loved her. But he needed encouragement.

Finally she spoke. "Oh, I'm so cold." She shivered slightly. The golden moment had arrived and he brushed her hand gently with his fingers.

"Cold, you dumbbell," she said. "Not playful."

Floor Of Ocean Is Being Raised In Many Places

LONDON — (Associated Press) —Discovery by a cable repair ship that the bed of the ocean in the vicinity of St. Helena had risen two miles during the last 20 years has led to a belief among scientists that the whole southern Atlantic ocean bed is undergoing a vast submarine convolution.

Some authorities even have made the statement that such changes are going on continually, and that these disturbances may occur in any locality. They believe this is the reason for the frequent sudden appearances of islands and shoals in the southern oceans. It also is claimed when the ocean bed is raised in one place there is a corresponding drop in some other section of the world.

The discovery of this strange phenomena was made recently when it was reported by the Eastern Cable Co. that their cable between St. Helena and Capetown was broken at a spot some 800 miles north of the cape. The cable had been laid in 1899 and had been in constant use.

On its arrival at the designated spot the cable repair ship reported to London that, instead of the depth of the water being 2,700 fathoms, or just over three statute miles, as stated on the chart, it was only a little more than three-quarters of a mile deep.
